WILMINGTON, Del., April 13, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- NRx Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (Nasdaq: NRXP), a biopharmaceutical company that focuses on neuroplastic therapies for depression, PTSD, and related conditions, today announces the appointment of Glenn Tyson as the company's first Chief Commercial Officer. As NRx looks forward to the anticipated approval of its Abbreviated New Drug Application for their preservative-free ketamine product, it looks to build its commercial capabilities and prepare for a successful launch.

Mr. Tyson has both clinical and commercial experience in addressing the needs of people suffering with serious mental illness. He began his career as a counselor in multiple settings working with children and adults with psychiatric conditions and addiction, before joining the pharmaceutical industry where he has spent 25 years developing expertise in all aspects of commercialization and sales. He served at GSK for 14 years in increasingly senior roles. He then joined Indivior as VP of Strategy and New Product Development, and then SVP of Sales and Marketing and subsequently President of Behavioral Health. He led Indivior in the successful launch of SUBLOCADE[®], a once-monthly injectable for the treatment of opioid addiction, delivering 17 consecutive quarters of double-digit growth during his tenure.

Most recently, Mr. Tyson has focused on the emerging sector of companies developing neuroplastic therapies for psychiatric conditions, including leadership level work with Transcend Therapeutics who recently announced a $700m deal with Otsuka.

In addition to the pending ANDA application for Preservative Free Ketamine, NRx is preparing a New Drug Application under Fast Track Designation to expand the use of intravenous ketamine (NRX-100) to treat patients with severe depression, who may have suicidal ideation. The Company is also developing its D-Cycloserine asset (NRX-101), previously awarded Breakthrough Therapy Designation as a neuroplastogen to enhance the efficacy of Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation in treating depression and suicidality in partnership with Prof. Joshua Brown, MD, PhD, the Company's newly-appointed Chief Medical Innovation Officer.

As CCO, Mr. Tyson will be responsible for building world-class market-access, distribution, sales and marketing functions to support commercialization of this NDA, as well as future pipeline assets in psychiatry designed to address the tremendous unmet needs of people suffering with serious mental illnesses.

"We are excited for Glenn to join the NRx executive team. His passion for people suffering with serious mental illnesses, and his vast relevant experience in the industry successfully building and leading commercial functions gives us great confidence as we prepare for the anticipated launches of our portfolio of products," said Dr. Jonathan C. Javitt, MD, MPH, NRx's CEO and Chairman.
